Experiencing Internship At Silah Gulf

Silah Gulf continues its series of internship programs for university students.

Our international intern for the month is Natalie Görner. Natalie is a student at the Vienna University of Economics and Business majoring in General Management & Leadership. During her course, she mentored and learnt about the functionality and operations of all the departments at Silah Gulf.

Silah is passionate about developing young talent by training them and equipping them with the necessary tools that will assist them to begin their journey on the career ladder.

We wish Natalie the very best in all of her future endeavors.
